The Classical Studies program at Rollins offers a student the opportunity to explore the cultures of ancient Greece and Rome through a well-rounded curriculum in language, literature, philosophy, history, and art. Students may take advantage of a wide range of perspectives on these ancient civilizations by enrolling in courses offered through the coordinated resources of several departments within the college. This interdisciplinary program is based on the premise that the study and appreciation of the classical period — the beginnings of Western Civilization — are an essential part of a liberal education. The goal is to make our classical heritage accessible to modern students so that they can share in it, evaluate it critically, and enjoy it thoroughly. Students are encouraged to participate in Winter Term studies in Greece and Italy (when offered). Rollins students may also take part in the exciting excavations of a Roman town on Majorca during the summers.

Applied Music: MU 155, MU 156; MU 255, MU 256; MU 355, MU 356; MU 455, MU 456

Music majors are required to pass a fundamental keyboard skills examination by the end of the junior year.

Study in applied music is required of each music major in one of the following areas: piano, harpsichord, organ, voice, guitar, orchestral instruments, choral conducting, composition, or church music. Applied music includes a minimum 45-minute private lesson each week. Students will also enroll in a minimum of two ensembles, one of which will be the Rollins Chorale (MU 127 etc.) or the Chapel Choir, perform in public recitals, and attend selected concerts throughout the term. At the end of each year, every student in applied music will perform before a committee of music faculty to determine if he or she may continue in applied music the following year. A student of composition will submit work in this field with an oral presentation before the committee.

Because entrance to applied music is by audition, entering freshmen and transfer students should make arrangements for their auditions with the music department as soon as possible after applying. While a live audition is preferred, a good quality recording is acceptable.

Requirements for the minor:

MU 151-152 Musicianship

MU 155-156 and MU 255-256 Applied Music

Two other music courses

Students enrolling in Applied Music are also required to take a minimum of two ensemble courses, one of which will be the Rollins College Chorale or Chapel Choir.
